May 5	Crazy Socks & Sandals
June 2	Silly Hat & Sunglasses

Pajama & Hat Day

You will love the chance to roll out of bed and wear their PJs all day (be sure you are dressed warm enough for outdoor recess). Baseball caps, top hats, beanies and more – everyone will love being allowed to wear a hat for the day.

Jersey Day

Encourage a little friendly competition when you come to school representing your favorite teams or athletes. Wear your favorite professional team jersey whether it's baseball, hockey, soccer or football. You can even wear a jersey or team shirt from your dance troupe, sports club or community team.

Red Green Day

As the calendar flips to December, we begin to think about the holiday season! Dress up in your favorite red and green clothing to celebrate.

Music Appreciation Day

This one can take different forms. Students can wear t-shirts representing their favorite bands or dress like their favorite musician (school appropriate please). Music will be played on the intercom during class changes and during lunchtime. Don't be surprised if you find yourself humming along or suddenly dancing in the halls to the beat!

Red, Pink and White Day

As the calendar flips to February, we begin to think about Valentine's Day and the month of Random Acts of Kindness! Dress up in your favorite red, pink and white clothing to celebrate. Bonus if you do a kind deed that day too!

Wacky Tacky Day

The goal is to dress "wacky," so students can do as little or as much as they want with this spirit day. One student may simply wear an ugly sweater, while another may combine stripes and polka dots in the same outfit. One may wear suspenders and too-short pants while another student sports crazy hair and mismatched clothing.

The sky's the limit, so have fun with this one.

Wacky Hair Day

Pigtails, spikes, green hair dye – you never know what you'll see on crazy hair day. We all like this one because it's low stress and doesn't require a lot of planning. In fact, some kids just roll out of bed and use it as an excuse not to brush their hair that day!

Crazy Sock Day

You are encouraged to wear your wildest pair of socks. Look in your sock drawer for the brightest colors, the wackiest patterns and the funniest prints. Extra points for teachers and students who find creative ways to display their wacky socks, such as wearing knee socks and shorts or layering socks over leggings.

Silly Hat & Sunglasses Day

Baseball caps, top hats, beanies and more – everyone will love being allowed to wear a hat for the day. From aviators to pink plastic Minnie Mouse glasses, the sky's the limit when it comes to featuring students' favorite eyewear.

* Theme Days will be advertised in announcements and throughout the school on posters. If you wish to have your class create posters for a specific theme day please sign up below. It will be your responsibility to hang the posters with marvelous tape and remove the posters when the theme day is over. This is a great art or health activity for your class to be involved in building school wide spirit.
